

Driver's DQC Card

It is a legal requirement that you carry your blue Driver Qualification Card when driving a bus.

To ensure the Company's compliance with this legal requirement we will be introducing a series of random checks when you sign on for duty. Failure to produce your card will mean you will not be signed on for duty and will be sent home to get your card.

If you drive a bus without a Driver Qualification Card on your person you will be liable for a fine of £50 when asked to produce the card by a police officer or an enforcement officer from DSA/VOSA. You can also expect that you will face disciplinary action.

Lothian Buses random checks will begin from Monday 26 March.

Thanks in advance and please remember to carry your card at all times when on duty.
